Taking the "Basic Sediment" out of Oil is Our Business

Every good live American citizen is today looking for the opportunity to invest his cash, large or small, where it will make him real quick money and be protected against losses.

If you are a fair-minded person you will give a few moments to the analysis of a genuine money-making enterprise. 75% of all crude oil produced is valueless unless the B. S.—Basic Sediment—is removed. This will revolutionize the oil industry, and 85% of the oil producers are dependent upon our making their oil market-

In the life of all enterprises there are three stages—the EX-PERIMENTAL STAGE, which is fraught with dangers; the OPPORTUNITY STAGE, which is the wise man's investing stage, which leads to the third or FORTUNE-MAKING STAGE.

Our product-"CEWAT"-has been applied successfully to the worst specimens of oil procured from fields notable for containing a very high percentage of B. S., and it has been thoroughly demonstrated in every case, where all other methods, chemical or mechanical, have failed or met with only partial success, and has accomplished its purpose with unfailing certainty.

There are millions upon millions of barrels of crude oil lying idle in the various oil fields which NO OTHER process has been able to treat, the several known processes in use all being very unsatisfactory and ABSOLUTELY UNABLE to treat ALL oils, and WE DO NOT HAVE TO CREATE A MARKET FOR OUR

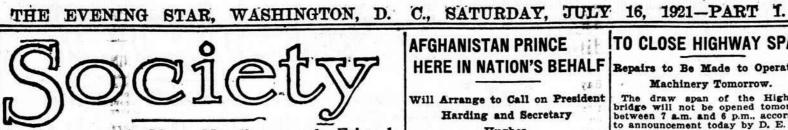

The Federal Government, through the Bureau of Mines, has Instituted an investigation of B. S. in oil by its own scientific experts, so vital and urgent has become the problem of separating or treating out the B. S. from oil.

Write for prospectus of this remarkable discovery, which for a few days pauses at the OPPORTUNITY STAGE—yes, pauses for the very reason that the enterprises of Asa Chandler. Henry Ford, Alexander Graham Bell and thousands of other successful enterprises paused briefly before their leap into FORTUNE'S LAP.

MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA PLAN TO CONSERVE CRABS

Definite agreement on plans for crab conservation was reached at a conference between representatives of Virginia and Maryland. The conference was arranged by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and held at the de-

Commerce Hoover and held at the department.

The officials at the conference included Col. F. Nash Bilisoly, commissioner of fisheries of Virginia; Harrison W. Vickers, chairman of the conservation commission of Maryland; Representative Goldsborough of Maryland and Mr. Radcliffe of the bureau of fisheries. Several other interested persons were at the conference, a number representing industries of Crisfield, Md.

The conclusion reached was that representatives of both state governments agreed to infroduce into the legislatures of their respective states as soon as possible legislation providing for the following points:

First That it be unlawful to take or have in possession a "sponge" crab at any time of year.

Second. That it be unlawful to take crabs by use of "trot line" between December 1 and March 31, inclusive;

That dredging of crabs be allowed only from December 1 to March 31, inclusive.

State Game Warden E. Lee Le Compte holds the law is unconstitutional and conflicts with the laws of both this state and West Virginia.

Mr. Le Compte addressed his objection to Game Warden C. Ware Harding of West Virginia, calling his attention to the fact that the attorney general of Maryland had ruled that such a licensing law was unconstitutional in its application to the general of Maryland had ruled that such a licensing law was unconsti-tutional in its application to the waters of the Potomac. He was sup-prised to be informed by Harding that he, too, objected to the law as unconstitutional.

Esthonia and Latia May Be Either Gateway or Barrier to Russia.

"World attention has been focused so closely upon storm centers of central and southern Europe that comparatively little has been heard of the new nations carved from Russia along the Baltic sea," says a bulletin from the Washington headpearters of the National Geographic Society.

"But with the gradual resumption of commerce between Russia and the outside world, Esthonia and Latvia will assume a more important aspect, either as barriers or gateways to in-terior Russia.
"Much, too, has been written of the oppressions of other subject peoples. The Esthonians might well claim to be the peers of any national suffering since medieval times, be-cause they have been sore beset both by Germans and Russians.

Germans Enforce Russian Laws. "From the eighties of the last cen-tury until the world war period Es-thonia bore the double goke of Tsar-ist laws administered by German ofist laws administered by German officials. As one writer exclaims,
'Heaven preserve us from Russian law as interpreted by Germans! The Russian official may not take a Russian law very seriously, but one can be sure that the German officials will.'

"One must go far back into Esthonian history to trace the origin of this duplicate despotism. And to the student of human geography the emer-duplicate despotism. And to the student of human geography the emergence to a sudden independence of a people so long submerged will make an experiment worth watching.

"The Esths are an aboriginal people of northern Europe, who once terrorized the Baltic by piracy and later clashed often with Swedes and Danes.

"Tradition has it that the oldest flag of Europe, that of Denmark, dates from 1219, when the Danish Waldemar II, who may be likened to Alfred the Great, was conducting a campaign to subdue Esthonia. A great silver cross appeared against a flery background in the heavens as an fery background in the heavens as an omen of success. This same Waldemar, in the same year, founded the town of Reval, now capital and seaport of Esthonia.

Conquest in Guise of Conversion. "Few nations can show so consist-ent a record of conquest under the guise of conversion as the Esthonians. The Danes came to baptize them at the point of the sword; then entered the Knights of the Sword, coming in the role of Crusaders and remaining for some six centuries as overlords. During the long era of German ascendancy the country became thoroughly Protestant.

"Within the past half century the Russians undertook strenuous methods to gather the Esths into the fold of their Orthodox church. Long experience taught these people the wisdom of accepting 'conversion' and then returning to their fold. But when they tried this expedient after the visits of Russian priests they found it a civil crime to withdraw from the Russian church after having entered it. Moreover, for a Protestant clergyman to marry a man or woman who belonged to the Russian church was punishable by imprisonment. perience taught these people the wis dom of accepting 'conversion' and

"The rugged endurance of this northern people, their vitality and spirit, is sufficiently shown by their bearing up under oppression that was both religious and political, and from the political standpoint both Prus-sian and Russian. Perhaps their Mongolic descent helps account for Nations and Nature Unkind. "Before the world war Esthonia was accounted one of the most progressive regions, agriculturally, in Russia. Nature is scarcely kinder to the Esthathan nations. They live in a low, swampy country, nowhere as high above sea level as the base to top height of the Washington Monument. Their summers are hot; their winters cold.

Their summers are hot; their winters cold.

"The people have an especial love for song, are industrious and progressive, and their struggle to gain a livelihood from the soil rather than a lack of enterprise accounts for the fact that some of their smaller villages have been described as being among the most non-descript and least lovely in all Europe.

"It should be noted that the free Esthonia recognized by many European governments comprises more than the old Russian Esthonia. A part of Livonia is included in the new state, while the southern part of Livonia, along with Courland, goes to make up Latvia The Esthonians and the Letts have less in common than one might expect of two neighbor peoples who have suffered for centuries the same slings of outrageous national fortune.

Reval Member of First Big Trust. "Reval, busy seaport city, betrays its German influence, and has been de-scribed by some visitors as akin to a medieval German town. It has had a medieval German town. It has had a commanding position in commerce since it was one of the eighty-five city members of the first giant trust, the Hanseatic League. But it has Russian hall marks, notably the Tower of St. Olaf, one of the tallest in Russia, which would o'er top the Times building in New York.

Dorpat is the Cambridge of Esthoni "Dorpat is the Cambridge of Esthonia —perhaps the Heidelberg of Esthonia would be the better appellation, since Dorpat was a seat of German influence. The University of Dorpat was founded by Gustavus Adolphus twelve years after the pilgrims set footh on Plymouth prock and more than a century before rock and more than a century before the next oldest university in pre-war Russia, that at Moscow."

RESOLUTION FAVORS IRISH.

A resolution introduced vesterda by Representative Cockran, democrat, by Representative Cockran, democrat, New York, would commit the House to expressing "its earnest hope that the negotiations now proceeding hetween representatives of the English government and the Irish people may result in complete reconciliation of both nations on conditions that will make justice and freedom the birthright of every one dwelling 'n either country."

MAKS. Sacred to the memory of my dear wife, MARY A. ADAMS, who entered into sternal rest five years ago today, July 16, 1916. She met her Savior on the strand,
When angels took her by the hand,
For Jesus claims her as his own.
When on earth I breathe no more
I will meet her on the heavenly shore.
HER HUSBAND, REUBEN E. ADAMS.

BARKSDALE. In loving remembrance of our devoted husband, father and grandfather, MARYLAND BARKSDALE, who fell asleep in Jesus one year ago today, July 16, 1920. Through the pearly gates of heaven,
Passed the one I loved so dear;
God thought it best to take him from me,
Though he left my home so drear.
HIS LOVING WIFE, MARY BARKSDALE. Oh, call it not death, it's life begun.
For the waters are passed, the home is won;
The blessed spirit has reached the shore
Where they weep and suffer and sin no

THE FAMILY. JOHNSON. Sacred to the memory of my be-loved daughters. ANNIE and JENNIE JOHN-SON, who entered into peaceful rest twelve years ago, July 6 and 16, 1999, respectively.

Today recalls the memory
Of two loved ones laid to rest.
And those who atill remember them
Are those who loved them best.
THEIR DEVOTED MOTHER, MRS. BETTIE
JOHNSON. LINGEBACH. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear and devoted husband. WALTER S. LINGEBACH, who departed this life three years ago today, July 16, 1918. LOVING WIFE.

PAGE. In remembrance of my sister, MARY PAGE, who departed this life July 15, 1910. HER SISTER, FRANCES SAMPSON. RICHARDS. Sacred to the memory of our dear niece and cousin, LENORA RICHARDS, who departed this life two years ago today, July 16, 1919. We mourn for you, dear one.
But not with outward show.
For the heart that mourns sincerely
Mourns silently and low.
AUNT JULIA, MAMIE AND GRACE.

SULLIVAN. In sad remembrance of our hus-band and father, JOHN J. SULLIVAN, who departed this life fourteen years ago today, July 16, 1907. He lies among the flowers
And grass, the only thing
That perishes, or is it that
Our autumn was his spring? Our attent was in spring.

Doubtless if we could see his face,

The smile is settled there

Which almost broke our hearts

When last we knelt by him in prayer.

HIS WIFD AND CHILDREN.
